A follow-up to yesterday's press release concerning the theft from our Wal-Mart on June 21st goes as follows: With help from the public and feedback from New Hampshire news agencies the suspect in the photograph has been identified as of this time. The suspect is NOT the person arrested in Salem on the 22nd, (Ryan Faulconer per tips called in), for the same type of theft. It is however a known associate of Faulconer and was with him at the time of the Salem theft. Warrants are forthcoming for the suspect in the Hudson case and the case is still under investigation. The Hudson Police would like to thank the public for the valuable information that helped solve this case.
